Annual Workshop on Population Ageing and the Chinese Economy
Australia-China Population Ageing Research Hub in collaboration with the APRU Population Ageing Research Hub

This two-day workshop, on 11-12 July 2017, will bring together academic experts, policy makers, and industry practitioners to discuss demographic change in China and its implications for policy and business practice. The second day will focus on the research of young scholars working on this topic.

Day 1
Presentations by academic experts including a keynote presentation from Professor Nicholas Bar (see draft program attached).

Nicholas Barr FRSA has an MSc in Economics from the London School of Economics and a PhD from the University of California, Berkeley, where he was a Fulbright Scholar. He is Professor of Public Economics at the London School of Economics, the author of numerous articles, and author or editor of over twenty books, including Pension Reform: A Short Guide (with Peter Diamond) (2010, also in Chinese and Spanish). The heart of his work is an exploration of how market failures can both explain and justify the existence of welfare states. He is a member of the Editorial Board of the International Social Security Review and an Associate Editor of CESifo Economic Studies, the Australian Economic Review and the Journal of the Economics of Ageing.

Day 2
Presentations by Early Career Researchers (ECRs) and students.
ABSTRACTS are invited from young scholars wishing to present their research on Day 2. Travel Bursaries are available to ECRs and students from APRU universities to present at the workshop, valued at:

- $500AUD for Australian based ECRs and student participants
- $1200AUD for internationally based ECRs and student participants

A prize of $250AUD will be awarded to the best presentation on day two.

For more information on Registration and submission of Abstracts please visit the CEPAR Website